

April 9, 2008

QuietCare adds ZigBee technology

QuietCare has announced the adoption of ZigBee, an advanced wireless networking technology. The revelation was made at last week's AAHSA show in Washington. ZigBee will help staff interaction with residents, improve care plan design and aid managerial oversight, according to the firm. ZigBee technology is targeted at radio-frequency applications that require a low data rate, long battery life and secure networking.

<http://www.quietcaresystems.com/>